THE LAST STRAW.

These are the letters she sent me—
Sad little paragraph of ink—
Vowing her love to content me,
Fifty times over, on pink.

These are my foolish old letters—
All that I wrote her—returned,
Shackled in dainty silk fetters,
Captives condemned to be burned.

Plans for forgiveness or pity,
Questions and tender replies,
Missives inclined to be witty,
Dozens, and none of them wise.

Stay! Here's a sensible billet.
Ah, 'tis her ultimate note:
"We have been long enough silly,
Please return all that I wrote."
—Cleveland.

THE TRACER.

How He Follows Up Dishonest Purchasers on the Installment Plan.

One of the most important men in the employ of a firm that makes a specialty of selling goods on the installment plan is the "tracer." His duty, as his name signifies, is to find out the whereabouts of delinquent customers, who think to get out of the trouble of future payments by quietly moving away and neglecting to leave their new address.

Nothing could be more foolish than such a course, for this is a feature of the business that the installment houses have reduced to a science. It is obvious that in this city the great majority of those who purchase goods on weekly payments live in flats. This makes it a comparatively easy matter for the dealer to keep them under surveillance, for one of the first things the collector does is to see the janitor and inform him which families in the house have bought goods on the installment plan. It pays to see the janitor for this service, for he is in a position to know when any moving is about to take place, and the information he gives the collector has been the means of nipping in the bud many a well laid scheme to get out of paying a furniture bill.

Sometimes, of course, it happens that a dishonest family will move away in such a hurry that the janitor is unable to inform the firm in time. In such an event the "tracer" is put on the case. He gets about his work with the method of the trained detective. He is familiar with the names and address of every furniture mover in the city, and his acquaintance among the helpers is so extensive that it is more than likely he has a personal friend among the men who moved the family he is seeking. With such advantages his task is not nearly so hard as the uninitiated would imagine, and there would be fewer attempts made to "beat" the installment dealers if it were better known how little chance a person has to succeed.—New York World.

Ministering to a Quiet Kentucky Flock.

In a pleasant, social little Kentucky town not long ago a new minister arrived. Eminent in his mission against the world, the flesh and the evil one and not duly considering the points of his compass, he delivered from his pulpit the first Sunday a tirade against card playing. On Monday the wealthiest member of his flock called on him and said:

"Oh, dear Brother Parker, your sermon was very unwise. You will offend half your people if you talk against cards. We are just a little quiet community all by ourselves here, and we play cards whenever we want to. Don't say anything more about card playing."

So the next Sunday the new preacher launched out on dancing. Again the wealthy member visited him to say that his church people had agreed to dance all they wanted to, and he was not to say anything more about dancing. The evil of horse racing was his subject the following Sunday, and this brought the rich member to him in great distress of mind.

"Great goodness, Brother Parker, this is one of the finest horse sections in the state! You are beside yourself when you try to put down horse racing!"

"Well," said the despondent preacher, "if you say so I'll have to let these evils alone. Next Sunday I'll abuse the Jews."

"All right," remarked the wealthy member, "but don't overlook the fact that I'm the only Jew in your congregation."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Dolasses.

The dolasses of the Kaffirs and Hotentots used for divination are not only dice, but substitutes for them. Precisely the same things served in the most ancient time for dice, and these are knuckle bones, which, under the name of astragal, children played with in old Greece and Rome. We have today a beautiful antique statue of a girl playing with knuckle bones. The Mithras was something made of bone which resembles the Roman tali. These dolasses do not bear numbers, but peculiar, small incised pictures. Mr. Bant, in his "Ancient Games of Mankind," describes these dolasses.

With the Practical Plating Dynamo is the electrical machine used in the great plating factories; $35 to $55 a week made easy. Plating everything; no experience; big profits. Address W. P. Harrison & Co., Clerk No. 14, Columbus, Ohio.

When a baby comes to the house real happiness comes. Worry and work and care and anxiety count for nothing against the smoothly dainty, clinging touch of the little hands and the sound of the little voice. The highest function given to human beings is bringing healthy, happy children into the world. Nothing equals that—nothing compensates for the loss of it. The woman who has not borne a child has never come to the real fullness of womanhood. Over thirty years ago the needs of women appealed to Dr. Pierce, now chief consulting physician to the Invalid Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. The result of his study improved by twenty years of practice is embodied in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It serves but one purpose. It strengthens, purifies and makes healthy the organs distinctly feminine. It gives weak women the strength and health necessary for the production of healthy children and it makes the bearing of those children easy. It is sure to cure any weakness or derangement peculiar to women; stops pain, soothes inflammation, strengthens, purifies, invigorates. Thousands of homes have been made happy by its use. Thousands of letters like this one from Mrs. W. P. Cain, of Clinton, Allegheny Co., Pa., who writes: "I was afflicted with all sorts of female trouble. I tried three doctors, and seven kinds of patent medicine, and found no relief. My husband said 'try Dr. Pierce's medicine.' I told him I might as well throw away money in the fire as to try anything more. I had lost all hope. I had not taken more than half a bottle, when I could eat and sleep well. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and several vials of his 'Pelle's.' One year after I gave birth to a fine baby girl. I got along so much better than when my other child was born. Three of my friends are taking your medicines, and are improving." Yours truly,

Mrs. W. P. Cain.

TOO MANY ARMY OFFICERS

According to Washington dispatches a West Point cadetship at the present time is not such a prize as it once was. Those cadets who will complete a four years course at the military academy in June will be confronted with the most extraordinary situation that a lot of young aspirants for army commissions ever had to face. On the morning they graduate there will not be more than a dozen vacancies for seventy graduates to fill. This is partly due to the number of promotions made from the ranks last year as awards for merit, and to the comparatively few retirements and deaths. Usually at this time of year there are a large number of vacancies for the graduating class at West Point to fill, but this year there will be sixty graduates for whom there are no places in the army.

Under the existing laws the maximum strength of the United States Army is limited to 25,000 men. There are three commissioned officers for each company. The law provides for the education of one cadet from each of the 356 Congressional districts and ten at large appointed by the President, making the full quota 466. By this arrangement 466 new officers, if there be no deaths, are provided for the army of 25,000 men every four years. This is a much greater number than the vacancies caused by death, resignation or retirement, but in addition the law provides for promotion from the ranks. The army therefore has a surplus of officers and men who have grown gray in the service since the war have not yet attained the rank of captain.

Should these piping times of peace continue, the number of cadets at West Point will have to be reduced or the army increased to provide places for the young officers, unless it is deemed advisable to educate a number of young men for military life and hold them in reserve for emergencies.

MCKINLEY AND CLEVELAND.

The New York World editorially says the silver men in both the Republican and Democratic parties will fail absolutely to commit either party to a course of silver and it predicts that McKinley will be nominated by the Republicans and Cleveland by the Democrats. It will be a fight to a finish and the result is by no means certain so far as choice by the electoral college is concerned.

The World can make long range political forecasts and so can anybody else, but it does not follow by any means that they are accurate. If, as it predicts, Cleveland and McKinley are the nominees of their respective parties it will divide the gold vote of the East and give the silver men of the West and South a good opportunity to combine and elect by a large plurality if not a majority of the Presidential electors. The silver cause has more to fear from straddling than from straight-out gold men. Straddlers may get votes from those who are in favor of the coinage of both gold and silver; the others cannot. With two gold men, such as McKinley and Cleveland are known to be, in the field for President there would be no deception and the silver men would have a decided advantage.

Let us hope that the World is right and that McKinley will be nominated at St. Louis and Cleveland at Chicago. What the silver men have to fear are deceptive candidates on delusive platforms. McKinley has publicly declared that he would not accept a nomination on a free coinage platform, and everybody knows where Cleveland stands.

AN INTERESTING SUIT.

The Bank of San Bernardino, California, refused to accept 600 standard dollars in payment of a draft for that amount sent through the bank for collection and returned the draft protested. Now the man who tendered the 600 silver dollars sues the bank for damages for injuring his credit.

This suit will be interesting. Standard dollars are supposed to be a legal tender for all debts, public and private. Now the courts will be called upon to determine whether the supposition is correct. If, as the national platform makers say, dollars, whether gold, silver or paper, must be maintained on a parity, each as good but no better than the other, why discriminate against standard dollars? Silver certificates, which are redeemable in silver dollars, bear the legend: "This certificate is receivable for customs, taxes and all public dues." Is it possible that paper redeemable in silver dollars is better money than the coin? Can it be that money which is receivable for customs, taxes and public dues is not a legal tender for private debts? What does the Sacramento Bee, which has undertaken the task of creating a free coinage sentiment in the Republican organization, think of the matter? Why does it not buzz about that bank affair and inform benighted Californians that the law of the United States make silver dollars a legal tender, and that the gold men have not yet succeeded in repealing that law?

The Herald says twenty more stamps are dropping and two mines have been bonded, all within a week. What's the matter with Nevada City?

GOVERNOR JONES DEAD.

He Speaks Encouraging Words to Those Around Him.

PASSES AWAY PAINLESSLY.

Lieutenant Governor Sadler Will Assume Charge of the Affairs of State.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—Governor John E. Jones of Nevada, who has been critically ill in this city for several months from cancer of the stomach, breathed his last at 5:30 this evening.

The only members of the Governor's family present were his wife and brother-in-law, Mr. Weyburn.

For the past forty-eight hours the Governor has been gradually sinking and his demise was constantly expected. He died a painless death, retaining consciousness to the last moment and speaking words of encouragement to his devoted wife, who has faithfully nursed him through his long illness.

The remains were removed to a local undertaking establishment from which they will be shipped to Carson on Sunday. No definite arrangements have been made for the funeral. A dispatch from Carson states that the news of the Governor's death was received with profound regret. Lieutenant Governor Reinhold Sadler will assume the Governorship.

Governor Jones was born in Water, December 5, 1840, and came to the United States in 1856, settling in Iowa. He taught school for a number of years in the Western States and finally drifted into Nevada. In 1882 he held the office of Deputy Internal Revenue Collector, residing at Eureka. In 1886 he was elected Surveyor-General of the State, being re-elected in 1889 and serving until he took the office of Governor in 1895.

TROUBLE ABOUT WATER.

Action Brought at Lovelocks to Enforce a Decree.

"They are having trouble about water at Lovelocks, as they do every six or eight years, when there is a dry season. The Silver State says the owners of the South Side Ditch and the Union Canal at Lovelocks have instituted proceedings against W. C. Pitt, J. T. Hauskins and the Lovelock Mill Company, to restrain them from interference with the water rights granted the former by the Court in suits heretofore litigated, and to enforce the decrees of the Court in the former action.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her, and she says it saved her life. Mr. Fios, Rogers, 139 Florida St., San Francisco, suffered from a dreadful cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else, then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this remedy for coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Hodgkinson's Drug Store. Suit has been commenced in the United States District Court at Cheyenne against the receivers of the Union Pacific Railway Company and 250 citizens of Wyoming to effect the cancellation of Government patents to $1,000,000 worth of property held by the defendants. These patents were issued to the railroad company for lands selected in lieu of lands claimed by the company to have been taken up within its twenty mile limit grant after the filing by the company of its map of definite location of the line of its road.

GEORGIA MINSTRELS.

They Are Praised by Carson Critics.

The Georgia Minstrels (colored) gave the show. Billy Kersands mouth was much in evidence. At times it reached from box to box and hung over the footlights. He could use such a mouth to do all the talking for Corbett and Fitzsimmons and have some to spare.

The time-honored minstrel olio was presented with many new songs, stories and jokes, and the whole went with great snap and spirit. The Crescent City Quartet rendered several selections in a very creditable manner. Gaze was at his best as the female impersonator. Mr. Walker has an excellent basso voice. The company contains several very clever artists and some not so clever. Some of the jokes had some moss, but the mossier the merrier, and it seems to be the rule with minstrels that the older the jokes the louder the laughter. There are more people who take an old joke with great enthusiasm, so as to let people know that they have met it before. Minstrel programmes are arranged to suit this class of people. But the audience went to be amused and were satisfied that they were amused.—Carson Appeal.

ROWN.

SULLIVAN—In Reno, April 9, 1896, to the wife of James Sullivan of the Ross House, a son.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

MAJOR W. W. ROBBINS.

Framer of the Indiana Military Bill Made Well by Paine's Celery Compound.

Major Robbins of the second Indiana State guards, aide on Gen. McKee's staff and president of camp Gray, has been for two years one of the most influential members of the Indiana legislature and the author of the famous Indiana Military Law of 1889.

Major Robbins was a very sick man up to the time of taking Paine's Celery Compound.

In proof of what that remarkable remedy can do to make a sick person strong and well, Major Robbins' letter from Indianapolis best tells its own straightforward story.

"I was troubled with a torpid liver, constipation and the accompanying sallow complexion, while my entire nervous system was entirely deranged, and I was greatly reduced in flesh. While in this condition I was taken down with a very severe attack of the grip, and was, for a long time, confined to the house and my bed.

"I resorted to various medicines and tonics, and under their temporary influence made several attempts to resume my business of traveling about in the interest of A. Steffen, cigar manufacturer of this city; but relapses succeeded relapses, and I was not only obliged to abandon my business, but growing gradually worse, became apprehensive of the ultimate result.

"At this juncture, my mother-in-law, who had used your remedy with gratifying results, prevailed upon me to commence taking Paine's Celery Compound, and it gives me great pleasure to state that I at once began to feel its beneficial effects.

"My appetite, which had failed me, returned, my constipation ceased, and very soon my liver became normal in its action. Following this my sleeplessness and headaches ceased, and I began to gain flesh. The insidious hold on me, that the grip had hitherto had was relaxed, and I felt invigorated and strengthened, so I could resume my vocation, and feel free from the languid, enervated feeling that had so long possessed me.

"My friends were pleasantly surprised with the change in my condition, and I was only too happy to recommend Paine's Celery Compound to such of my acquaintances as were suffering from any of the complaints which so complicated my case. Therefore, I again say I feel impelled by a deep sense of gratitude to express how much I have been helped, for I now feel and look like a new man."

Physicians who rely on Paine's Celery Compound—as thousands of the most wide awake members of the profession are doing, especially now that nearly every one feels the need of a genuine spring remedy—physicians know very well what that languor and that tired feeling means. They know that debility to-day often results in nervous prostration to-morrow, unless the tired system is quickly invigorated.

That is why all over the country to-day Paine's Celery Compound is being taken by the advice of skilled physicians. It is the one remedy that physicians can conscientiously call a genuine spring remedy. Try it.

THE GALLOW'S CHEATED.

THE CLOSING SCENES OF A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

Alpheus Vaughan Hears the Verdict of the Jury and Then Takes His Life.

At an early hour yesterday morning it was rumored about the streets that the jury in the Vaughan case had agreed, but their probable verdict was only speculation. At 9 o'clock court was called and shortly after, the jury filed into the box. The prisoner was already in the court-room, but exhibited little interest, that is if one was to judge by the expression on his face.

The Clerk called the names of the jurymen, and to the question by Judge Cheney of "Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon a verdict?" G. H. Fogg arose and answered "We have," and handed the verdict to the Clerk. The verdict read that two jury had found Alfred Vaughan guilty of murder in the first degree. The Judge thanked the jury and discharged them for the term. During the reading of the verdict the prisoner remained as unconcerned, to all appearances, as he had during the whole trial. After a moment or two of preliminaries, Judge Cheney fixed the time of sentence for 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon and remanded the prisoner to jail. As the Sheriff proceeded with Vaughan to the jail, the latter simply said: "Well, they gave it to me hard, and it didn't surprise me, but I want to die to-day."

He went into his cell and sat down and said, "Well it, can't be helped." Jack Caughlin, the Deputy Sheriff, answered that there was a chance in the Supreme Court yet and for him to brace up, and the prisoner was left to himself.

During the morning his brother Charles brought him a bunch of flowers, some oranges and strawberries. The officers carefully examined all of them and gave them to the prisoner.

At 12:30 he was asked if he wanted some lunch, and he replied that he didn't care for anything.

Near the hour of 1 o'clock Deputy Sheriff Caughlin visited him to tell him to prepare to go into the court-room. The officer spoke to him and noticed that he had the appearance of having been crying and again told him to brace up. Shortly after the officer was started by his peculiar appearance and immediately started for physicians, who were soon at the jail. His attorney, J. F. Dennis, had also arrived to be present when sentence was pronounced.

By this time it was plainly apparent that Vaughan was suffering from poison and the physicians lost no time. He would not speak a word or answer any questions, but calmly folded his arms across his breast and stared at those around him. His attorney asked those in the cell to retire, but even then he would not talk. He simply looked at those passing in and out of his cell in an indifferent way, rising once or twice into a half sitting position to spit over the side of the bed.

He was taken to the jail yard and the officers tried to walk him, and other means were resorted to in order to arouse him.

Doctors Thoma, Lewis and the Doctors Phillips worked heroically, but to no purpose. He was then taken into the Sheriff's office and an electric battery applied together with other means to save him, but the physicians were soon satisfied that there was no hope.

The physicians and others worked over him all afternoon and until death came to him at 9:15 last evening. He never uttered a word during the whole time. Just before he died he opened his eyes and seemed to look at those near him for a moment, then closed them and all was over.

There are a number of reports and theories as to how he obtained the poison, but the most probable one is that he had the drug concealed about his clothes somewhere, likely sewed up in some place little thought of. It is reported that he had said that he never would be sentenced the third time, and this would indicate he had made his arrangements for the worst.

His parents were persuaded to remain away as they could do nothing and it would only add to the terrible scene, by them being present. His brother and half brother were with him until death. Everything possible was done to save him, but it is perhaps better for all concerned that the curtain has fallen on the last act of one of the most terrible tragedies ever committed in Nevada, and it will simply pass as an unfortunate event in the history of the State and soon be forgotten.

Coroner Peers took charge of the body, and it was removed to Sander's undertaking parlors, where an inquest will be held to-day. Owing to the lateness of the hour, no arrangements had been made for the disposition of the remains, but it is probable the funeral will take place in Reno.

THE INSTITUTE.

The Fifth and Closing Day of the Session—Permanent Organization and Adjournment.

The Institute met as usual yesterday morning and the attendance was large. This being the closing day, the visiting teachers were desirous of seeing the end, notwithstanding the fatigue that must necessarily have come from the close attention to each day's session and the round of nightly pleasures that has been a part of the program during the week. The naturally bright eyes of the schoolmasters had assumed a kind of far-away look, and the velvety, peach flush of their pretty cheeks had become a turnip white. The cheery lips had grown blue, and, sad to say, the climate of Reno had caused them to look dry and even chapped. Laughing dimples had grown into creases and wrinkles, and altogether the hurrah of the session had made sad changes in a few days. The schoolmasters did not change much. They came here with long faces and dignified men, and the only change in their appearance at the end of the week was a more serious expression on their countenances and their shoulders a little more stooped. In the words of ex-Commissioner McLaughlin, "We have all had a hilarious time and will now return to our respective districts and retire into a state of innocuous desuetude."

The Institute opened as usual, and a paper on Rhetoric by Miss Long was well received.

Mrs. J. K. Logan presented a paper on Primary Busy Work, and it was one of the best read during the session of the Institute. The lady showed the most perfect knowledge of her subject and was highly commended.

Professor Church of the University entertained the audience with a talk on Latin, and introduced photographs and reproductions of scenes in Rome, also figures of the Roman soldiery.

Professor Miller, assisted by his class, gave a practical lesson in dissection and anatomy. The teachers crowded about the tables, and even the schoolmasters did not seem at all shocked. Professor Howe of Carson, by request, read Professor Bray's paper upon the needs of a reform school in our State. The paper was very interesting, and it is hoped that the press and public sentiment will assist in carrying this proposition out.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

A class exercise and paper on music in the public school by special teachers, by Mrs. Layton, was an excellent argument in favor of this study.

Sam Davis of the Carson Appeal gave a witty and entertaining talk upon the defects in the school system in relation to the science of agriculture.

Mrs. Emery of the University read a fine paper on child study. It was a thoughtful and able treatise on the subject. She created considerable amusement by her system of questions and answers. Her idea of thought development in children was very interesting, and she demonstrated her theories practically by having several pupils of different ages from the Training School of the University present.

Dr. Stubbs by request gave an excellent idea of the origin, methods and objects of the University extension as well as the aim of the University.

Following Dr. Stubbs' remarks came the routine work of the Institute. The Committee on Reform School reported and asked that an effort be made at the next session of the Legislature to establish such an institution.

The Committee on State Educational Journal reported that such a journal should be maintained if possible, and Legislative help be asked for the purpose if necessary.

The thanks of the Institute were tendered to all who assisted in the entertainment of members of the Institute and the resolutions were adopted and ordered printed.

The Committee on Patriotic Exercises reported that the flag should be displayed over the school buildings and in the school-rooms and that a salute to the flag be taught and used and that at stated intervals all the schools of the State act simultaneously and hold suitable patriotic exercises. The report was adopted.

A rising vote of thanks and congratulations were tendered to State Superintendent Cutting for his successful efforts on behalf of the State Institute. The best of feeling prevailed, all differences were adjusted and with hearty good-bys and some tearful eyes the State Teacher's Institute passed into history.

The permanent organization of the Nevada State Teacher's Association followed, the following officers being elected: D. S. McLane, Storey county, President; O. C. Snyder, Elko, First Vice President; Edward E. Caine, Washoe, Second Vice President; J. C. Doughty, Elko, Secretary; Mrs. M. S. Doten, Reno, Treasurer.

The Association adjourned to meet at the call of the President. The executive committee met later and transacted some unimportant business.
